Commercial Graphics - Graphic Design

Associate in Applied Science in Commercial Graphics

Graphic Design Career Path

60 Credit Hours

Graphic Design has surpassed its role as a commercial art practice to play an essential role in how the world communicates today. It has become an indispensable tool for communicating the wide array of experiences of place, product, service or personality in every imaginable context. Students enrolled in the Graphic Design career path are challenged to develop design solutions to all of the above by experimenting with various tools including advertising, logo design, type design, books and digital magazine production, packaging, photography, motion graphics, and apps to create compelling graphic identities and branded experiences across a wide range of perpetually evolving media.

Students can earn only one Commercial Graphics degree in a single career path.
